Dear Preschool Parent:

Follow Jesus... Surrender, Sacrifice, Sustain, Share and Shine. You will frequently hear about what that looks like at church, but what does that look like in your home? How are we teaching these actions on a preschool level of understanding to those that live right under our own roof? Are we being intentional about personally being in God's word and then teaching it to our children? How are we sharing with those that we love the most?

Parent Commitment is really about all of those things and more! If you are making it a priority to teach your child about God, and want to make a public commitment of that choice, please join us on Parent Commitment Sunday, November 14, 2010.

We encourage you to invite family, friends, follow group and your other children to physically stand with you during this time. Ask these people to be accountability partners with you, helping you to stay focused on the only thing that will matter when life is over... did I teach my child about God? Has he/she accepted Him as their personal savior?

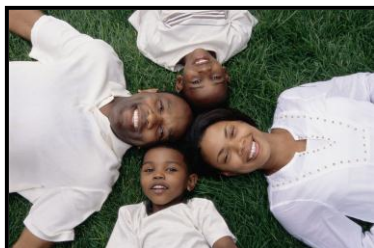

Please ask someone to pray over your family that morning. It could be your Sunday School Teacher, a mentor, or a Grandparent just to name a few. They are welcome to join us as we meet with Pastor Darrin on Sunday, November 14, in Room 226 to go over the order of service. Feel free to leave your children in their classrooms during this time.

As you complete the enclosed form, pray about what verse God has for you to claim, as you teach your child about Him. We would like for you to share 2-3 pictures of your child, and/or family, with the name and date on the back of each picture. These pictures will be shown in Worship during this special service. Submit the enclosed form and pictures ASAP but no later than Sunday, November 7, or sign up on line at www.bluevalleybaptist.org. Because we have asked for these things in advance, we will be unable to include last minute decisions to participate.

Sharing Jesus alongside you...
